Thanks for the opportunity to comment on the Cell Phone Industry in Canada. First of all it is too costly, & Rogers, Bell Aliant and Telus control too much of our Cell Phone Industry. The rates and fees are too high, and plainly put there is not enough competition. They set their own rates, fees and rules, and you the Government have been letting them do this. They ding us with fee after fee, they fight every effort to have other Companies come in to deliver Cell Phone Services for Canadians.

Take a look around at other Countries, their Cell Rates are less than ours here in Canada. They have more Companies providing cell service's and consumers are benefiting from this with lower fee's , more options and no more monopoly on the Cell Phone Industry. You must open the Canadian Cell Phone Industry up to smaller Cell Phone Companies and for Foreign Cell Phone Companies. We as Canadian Consumers deserve more cost effective rates than we have now. We pay too much in rates and fees, do the right thing, open up the Canadian Cell Phone Industry to more competiton. Thanks.

The Wards,
Bill & Lill,
HAVE A NICE DAY
