Section 6 of the AWS document states that:

" In their application each applicant must indicate the total number of "points worth" of licences on which they wish to bid in any round. This number defines a bidder's initial level of eligibility points and is also used to determine the financial deposit that must be submitted with the application. Bidder eligibility points may not be increased once the auction has started."

However, according to Attachment A- List of Licence in the AWS application, the applicant is required to select the licences on which the company wishes to bid on it. We find that request conflicts with auction rules as depicted in the AWS application document whereby applicants are entitled to move their points as long they maintain their activity within "bidder eligibility points". Hence we wonder why attachment A requires the applicant to pre-select the licences!!
