Trademark Description

The two-dimensional trademark is shown in the attached drawings. The drawings show a two-dimensional cat design applied to a three-dimensional object, namely, two side panels and the top panel of a box. The object shown in dotted outline does not form part of the trademark, but is included to provide a better understanding of the two-dimensional mark, including the positioning of the cat design on the three-dimensional object. The drawings represent different perspectives of the same trademark. Certain drawings show two three-dimensional objects stacked one on top of another. In such drawings, both three-dimensional objects are identical, the only difference being that one object is rotated 180 degrees relative to the other object to provide a better understanding of the two-dimensional mark, including the positioning of the cat design on the three-dimensional object.
